

Main Organizer

KOORDINATIONEN FOR
Kønsforskning

The Co-ordination for Gender Studies

in co-operation with

FORENINGEN
FOR
KØNS
FORSKNING

THE DANISH
INSTITUTE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

GENDER
BODY
DYNAMICS
GENDER CERTIFICATE

KOORDINATIONEN FOR
Kønsforskning
The Co-ordination for Gender Studies

KEY NOTES

- Professor Ratna Kapur, Jindal Global law school, New Dehli, Harvard Law School
- Professor Leslie McCall, Northwestern University, Chicago
- Associate professor, Andrea C. White, Union Theological Seminary, New York City

THEMES

- Fat, Fitness, Pharma, Food
- Reproductive technologies
- Quantitative methods
- Queer Architecture and Urban planning
- Refugees and Global Mobility
- Religion and Gender
- Feminist economy
- Diagnosis systems

International Conference
University of Copenhagen
April 28th and 29th, 2016
<http://koensforskning.soc.dk>

BODIES BIG DATA BELIEVERS

Twists, Turns and Challenges
in 21st Century Gender Research

BODIES BIG DATA BELIEVERS

Twists, Turns and Challenges
in 21st Century Gender Research

International Conference
University of Copenhagen
April 28-29th, 2016

CALL FOR PAPERS:

The Co-ordination for Gender Research calls for abstracts to the international conference on Bodies, Big Data and Believers in Copenhagen 28th to 29th April 2016.

The aim of this international and interdisciplinary conference is to explore and advance the 21st century research in gender and body dynamics beyond existing theoretical and methodological and empirical perspectives. The conference will focus on the entanglement of cutting edge theory, methodology and policy and include both emerging and more established research paradigms. The conference will contain of 3 keynote lectures, addressing main themes of the conference: Bodies, Big Data and Believers.

Professor Ratna Kapur,
Jindal Global Law School,
New Delhi

Professor Kapur is a Director of the Centre for Feminist Legal Research in New Delhi. She has written and published extensively on human rights, international law, postcolonial and feminist legal theory.

Professor Leslie McCall,
Department of Sociology,
Northwestern University,
Chicago

Leslie McCalls work has demonstrated how big data, quantitative methodologies, regression and network analysis can be said to connected and advance recent ideas of intersectionality in gender research.

Associate Professor
Andrea C. White,
Faculty of Union Theological Seminary, New York

Andrea Whites work is specialized in womanist theology with research interests in theologies of otherness, theological anthropology and the relationship between philosophy and theology.

Besides the keynote speakers, it will be a workshop based conference with panel debate/workshop sessions that are going to cover an extensive range of topics in relation to Twists, Turns and Challenges in 21st Century Gender Research. We call for abstracts related to various aspects focusing on themes of bodies, quantitative methods, religion and gender research. The abstracts may relate to one of the themes below or alternatively come up with their own suggestions!

- Fat, Fitness, Pharma, Food
- Reproductive technologies
- Quantitative methods
- Queer Architecture and Urban planning
- Refugees and Global Mobility
- Religion and Gender
- Feminist economy
- Diagnosis systems

Deadline for abstracts:
20th of February 2016

The abstracts are to be sent to:
Copenhagen2016@soc.ku.dk

The abstract should have a maximum length of a ½ page, and also include information such as your name, contact information and university. The abstract can be in either Danish or English.

More on information on:
www.koensforskning.soc.ku.dk