

Guidelines for Reviewers

Thank you for agreeing to review a book for the journal Kvinder, Køn & Forskning. In order to facilitate editorial procedures we kindly ask you to observe the following guidelines.

Formal requirements:

Length: 3-4 pages of 2000 characters (with spaces)

Details:

The review should be submitted accompanied by the name of the author, the title of the book, publisher, year, number of pages, and price placed before the actual review.

The review should be succeeded by the name of the reviewer, his or her major/minor, and institution/title if applicable.

Please do not hesitate to provide the review with a headline/title of its own – you may note this under the above-mentioned details.

Contents:

As Kvinder, Køn & Forskning is an interdisciplinary journal appealing to readers and scholars of all departments, the editorial staff kindly ask that the following demands regarding contents be met in the review:

1) Presentation of the book

Contents should be outlined in perspective to other relevant authors and books within the field of study. The reader should be provided with a general view of the contents as well as an idea of the tradition/genre that the book forms part of.

2) Discussion of the book

The review should enter into a dialog with the book concerning theses, theoretical frames of reference, and the topic in general. Moreover, it is desirable that the reviewer discuss style, layout, and illustrations, tables etc.

3) Evaluation of the book

The quality of the book and its applicability in various contexts are explained, discussed, and assessed. The review concludes with the reviewer's personal and professional evaluation.

As a token of our appreciation we will mail you a copy of the journal when it appears.

Sincerely,

The editorial staff of Kvinder, Køn & Forskning
